

We are going on a
car journey

Today we are going by car
somewhere far away.

I can sit in my seat and do up my seatbelt.

The belt holds me if the car brakes.

The journey takes quite a while.
I can bring music, a book or a game for the way.
With something to do, the time
passes sooner.

Halfway we usually stop for a bit.
I can get out, stretch my legs and use the toilet.

Then we carry on.

Sometimes in the car my tummy
feels odd.

I can look out of the window ahead and let some air in.

I can say something if I feel poorly.

When we arrive, we get our things
out of the car.

I can ask how much is left by looking at the map.

The journey ends and what we came to do begins.
