

We have a test
today

Today we have a test in class.
I can get my pencil and rubber ready before we start.
A test is a way to see what I have learnt.

The class goes quiet and we read
the questions.

I can read slowly and start with what I know.

I can leave the hard parts until the end.

Sometimes I feel butterflies in my tummy.

I can breathe slowly three times and carry on.

The nerves settle down little by little.

If I do not understand a question,
I can put my hand up.

I can ask for it to be read to me again.

Asking is allowed in a test.

When I finish, I hand in my paper.
I can check what I wrote if there is time.

The mark comes another day, and one test is only a part of the year.

We have a test today
